PREFACE

Test tasks on discipline “The Latin Language and Medical Terminology” are made up for the first-year students of the medical faculties with the English medium of instruction, speciality 222 “General Medicine”.

Test tasks contain 32 themes that correspond to practical classes within Module 1. Anatomical terminology (the 1st semester) and Module 2. Pharmaceutical and Clinical Terminology (the 2nd semester). Each theme has detailed instructions on test-taking and 25 questions, closed-ended ones (multiple-choice tests) and open-ended ones (to type/write a word, a word combination or a prescription). The purpose of test tasks is to revise the material learnt during Latin classes and to prepare for assessment and credit in the Latin language and medical terminology. Moreover, the manual consists of preface and references.

Note that it is highly recommended to use test tasks for independent work. For successful completion of each theme and test-taking, students need to learn information that deals with a specific grammar point from a textbook. Evaluation criteria (scores – a traditional mark):

37-40 scores – 5;

31-36 scores – 4;

21-30 points – 3;

0-20 points – test is failed.

The manual is a supplement to the National textbook “The Latin Language and Medical Terminology Basics”, edited by L.Yu. Smolska. Besides, it is based both on it and other references.
